The Premium Marketplace for Cannabis Branded Content

Powered by data, we built the best in class tools to connect brands with the right creators, enabling branded content that reaches the right audience and inspires action.

Why Influencer Marketing?

Creators are more than a new generation of celebrity - they are writers, producers and distributors of content to a large and already engaged audience.

Marketer / Creator

Engaging customers has never been easier

Consumers want to feel connected to brands and their stories, and when it comes to purchasing products and discovering trends, consumers' most trusted sources have become creators, not traditional celebrities or brands.

Marketing for a new generation

Want millions of people to learn about your brand? You're in the right place. Creators are this generation's storytellers, telling product stories in a way that no one else can. Their audience trusts them and looks to them for advice on the newest products, brands and services.

How it works

Getting Started is Simple

1) Create Campaign

Select the platforms you want to receive proposals for, choose sponsorship types, provide an overview of your product or service and set your content budget.

2) Receive Proposals

Interested creators will send you proposals with details describing the type of content they would like to create for your brand, for which platform, along with their fee and completion date.

3) Select Creators

Proposals include content examples, reach and engagement metrics along with audience demographics and channel geography. Filter proposals by criteria such as your primary demo/country/age range to find the right creators faster

4) Get Content

Once you receive content, you can review, request edits and approve when ready. Once approved, creators will share the content with their loyal audience, driving views, engagement and ROI for your brand.

Flexible Budgets

Signing up for Exspose is free and since you set your content budget, you're in charge of how much you spend. Some brands spend tens of thousands per campaign, but you can start as low as $100.
